Official Statement Also Declares General von Lensingen Has Driven the Enemy Across Gnita Lipa River

GERMAN LOSSES HEAVY IN GALICIA, CZAR'S CLAIM

Austro-German Forces Lose Over 700,000 Men in Recent Campaign, According to Estimate of Russian General

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, June 29.—The Russian army in Galicia has made further important gains at two points according to today's German official statement. The Russian forces north of Lemberg have been driven at some points over the Galician frontier, while further south the army of General von Lensingen has forced the Muscovites back from the Gnita Lipa river, upon which they retreated from the Diester. The German report says that the Russian retreating from Lemberg was driven as far north as Tomaszow, in Russian Poland, which is about fifty miles northwest of the city. Military observers believe the next stand of the Russian army driven from the Gnita Lipa will be along the line of the River Bug. It is in that direction that the fighting at present is trending, and as evidence of a further retrograde movement, the pressure being exerted already has resulted in the Russians being obliged to evacuate positions they have held in the Tanew section and along the Lower San, the German declare.

In the west there have been sporadic attacks by the French upon the progress toward an infantry operation along the road between Verdun and Alençon. German accounts declare all French attempts to gain ground and to break through the German lines have been repulsed. A recent German claim to a gain in the Vosges, but declare that it was lost again. Russian headquarters estimate that Russian allies lost in neighborhood of the frontiers of a million men in recent sweep through Galicia against the Russian army. This information comes from General Ivanov, commander of the Russian southern armies. He says that the German loss in the Vosges was about 100,000 men, and the Austrians lost probably an equal number. If his estimate is approximately correct, the Austro-German losses last 700,000 men within the last four months.

Great interest is manifested in the European capitals today over the probability that Italy will join the allies against the Turks in the Dardanelles. It is expected that Italy will join the allies against the Turks in the Dardanelles. It is expected that Italy will join the allies against the Turks in the Dardanelles. Both Sides Claiming Advance in France

BERLIN, June 29.—(Via London.)—The official statement given out today by the German headquarters staff announces that to the north of Lemberg the Austro-German army has driven the Russian army across the Gnita Lipa river, an affluent of the Diester north of Lemberg.

The communication follows: The French yesterday prepared the first infantry attack, between Lens and the Betunne-Arras road, by a strong preparatory bombardment, but they were frustrated by our artillery. The hills of the Meuse the enemy yesterday delivered five attacks on the positions we captured June 26 at a point in the northwest of Lens. These attacks broke down with heavy losses. During the night the French attacked at a point further east, but broke down without having achieved success.

JOSE ESCOBAR'S CONVICTION LICENSED BY BRITISH COUNCIL

Believe Council May Reverse Action if Five Permits Granted Are Vetoed by Chief Executive

MR. WOODWARD DECLINES TO SAY WHAT HE'LL DO

Indications Are That He Believes There Has Been Discrimination—Veto Is Not Improbable

Leading members of the nine locker clubs denied permits by the city council Monday, are now turning to Mayor Woodward, who is shown that council action may reverse its action if the five applications granted by that body are vetoed by the executive.

The mayor, while refusing to state his position more definitely than to say that he is certain to veto club applications, is shown that his closing order of last Saturday was violated, is lending considerable encouragement to the members of the clubs that were refused licenses.

When the mayor's club situation is brought to his attention the mayor simply says: "You can't make fish of one end and fowl of the other."

The fight in council on most of the clubs denied permits was led by Aldermen Albert Thomsen, who contended the financial statements showed that they were being operated primarily for the sale of intoxicants, and not as social organizations. He was especially strenuous in his opposition to several clubs, whose statements showed an expenditure for salaries greater than revenue derived from dues.

The following applications were denied: Central club, Atlanta club, Beaverton, Greek society, Thelma club, Metropolitan, Owls and Terrace.

Those granted were the University, Capital City, Transportation, Turn of Mind, and Standard.

These returned to the committee for further investigation were Atlanta Athletic, Druid Hills Golf, Piedmont Athletic, Morris Rice and Eagle.

"Councilman Jesse B. Lee declared in the course of the meeting that it seems to me the council attitude that a man who is a millionaire in Atlanta is to be treated as a pauper in Georgia. Freeman, a member of the committee, was evidently determined to kill all of the little clubs and let the big ones survive."

Mayor Woodward, however, shares the opinion of the majority of the council that there has been discrimination, and is certain to veto the five applications granted and throw them all on practically the same footing again.

By Councilman Freeman, who will be the number of supporters of the mayor who voted with the majority on the club.

MAJOR WOODWARD TALKS

Major Woodward Tuesday morning, discussing the action of the council, declared that he believed the council had been misled by the club members who had been given permits.

"It seems to me the poor man has just as much right to a drink as the rich man. If it is wrong for the poor man to have a club, it is also wrong for the rich man."

Asked directly if he would veto the applications granted he refused to reply directly, but said:

"I was going to veto three applications, but the council has given me an order to the order to close which was issued last Saturday."

VOTE ON CENTRAL CLUB

The vote on the Central club was for the permit. Aldermen Sewright, McDonald and Armstrong, Councilmen Alderman, Benfro, Freeman, of the Third, Lee and Johnson, of the Fifth—8. Against the permit, Aldermen Kelley, Thomsen, Barnes, Owens, Dunlap, Councilmen Knight, McCord, Ashley, Farlinger, Wood, Johnson, of the Sixth, White and of the Seventh, Reynolds, White, of the Ninth, Peacock and Freeman—13.

The next vote was on the Atlanta club. It was also 13 to 8 against the permit. The vote on the Atlanta club was 13 to 8 against the permit. The vote on the Atlanta club was 13 to 8 against the permit.

A literal landslide against the clubs came on the third vote. The Atlanta club was the only one to get a majority. The Atlanta club was the only one to get a majority.

ENGLISH BLOCKADE QUESTION

GERMAN SUBMARINE QUESTION

The state senate on Tuesday reconsidered its action of Monday in passing a resolution urging President Wilson to "take such steps as he may deem necessary and proper, either through diplomatic or retaliatory means, to induce or compel Great Britain to withdraw her illegal blockade of neutral ports."

Immediately after reconsidering the resolution the senate passed a resolution which came from the house and which was introduced by Senator Albert Thomsen, of the First district, and which was introduced by Senator Albert Thomsen, of the First district.

Brussels Mayor Has Spent 240 Days in Prison—Suffers No More

(By Associated Press.)
PARIS, June 28.—Burgomaster Max, of Brussels, interned in the German fortress at Glatz, is resigned to his fate, according to a letter written by him to the Swiss correspondent of the Matin in which he says:

"I take no merit for supporting my cause. I see in my present situation only an application of the law that every being admits himself to the consequences of his actions. I have been shut up now 240 days and captivity has become a second state for me. Of the sufferings I experienced during the first weeks following my arrest are lessening more and more."

CASE OF THE SHIP

MUST BE ACTED ON SOON

Germany Asked to Abandon Her Demand for Prize Court Proceedings

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, June 29.—With the publication today of the American note to Germany concerning the destruction of the American ship, William P. Frye and her cargo of wheat by the German commerce destroyer Prinz Eitel Friedrich, interest here centered in the character of the reply the German government would make.

It was dispatched to Ambassador Gerard and by him presented to the German foreign office last Saturday afternoon.

The communication asks that Germany reconsider her refusal to settle by direct diplomatic negotiations, instead of by prize court proceedings, the claim presented on behalf of the captain and owners of the Frye and points out that such proceedings are unnecessary and binding upon the United States in view of Germany's admission of liability for the sinking of the ship under the treaty of 1913.

The American government declares it will accept indemnity, if paid promptly, as reparation. It is made clear that the United States will not accept Germany's contention that she has a right to stop the carrying of contraband by the ship, by destruction of the contraband and the ship carrying it.

DR. BRADFIELD NEW HEAD

BATTLE HILL SANITARIUM
Is Elected Superintendent Over Vigorous Protest of Mayor Woodward

Dr. J. H. Bradfield, a member of the board of health from the Second ward, was elected superintendent of the city tuberculosis sanitarium at Battle Hill Tuesday by the city board of health.

The action was taken over the vigorous protest of Mayor Woodward, who charged that the place is being made a refuge for aged physicians, and that he would be glad to sign a council resolution holding as superior the institution to less expense to the city.

Dr. Bradfield replaces Dr. G. L. Loden, who has been elected to the position. Dr. Loden's resignation was read to the committee.

Well, he knew you were after him," remarked the mayor, who wished to retain the young physician, whose work was complimented highly by Dr. Claude Smith, another member of the committee.

Alderman Edgar Dunlap, a member of the committee, during the discussion, told Mayor Woodward that when he promised to vote for Dr. Bradfield he did not know that the physician had ever had any differences with the mayor. It is not a personal matter," returned the mayor. "If I know that Bradfield is not fitted for the place, and if you keep this position in politics and play politics with it, the institution should be abolished."

Alderman Dunlap said that the institution is not now being conducted properly and that unless an improvement is made in the administration of Dr. Bradfield, that he will move to remove him.

First three members of the committee, Alderman Dunlap, Dr. J. F. Kennedy and Dr. W. L. Gilbert, voted for Dr. Bradfield. The mayor refused to vote, and Dr. Claude Smith was acting as secretary of the meeting.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The British government announced today that it has agreed to use 10,000 bales of cotton per month for the purpose of settling the claims of the American cotton spinners.

The agreement is a surprise today to state departments, who understood the ships had been released. The action adds to complicated mass of cases of the American cotton spinners.

The amount is said to be more than twice the normal consumption of Swedish cotton mills and fully acceptable to the spinners.

The spinners have notified its consular officers throughout the United States.

RAOUL PUT IN JAIL

IN DEFENCE OF BOND
Mrs. Sinclair Is Alleged to Have Returned to Millen With Raoul From Meeting of Socialists in Cleveland

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
MILLEN, Ga., June 29.—Alleging that her husband, William G. Raoul, Jr., of Atlanta, who is a well-known socialist, had brought "a certain Mrs. Upton Sinclair" back home with him from a socialist gathering in Cleveland, Ga., and had brutally informed his wife that "the cared more for Mrs. Sinclair than for her," Mrs. Sinclair, who is a well-known socialist, has brought suit for divorce and alimony against her husband.

Mrs. Sinclair, who is alleged in the petition to have won the affections of the well-known socialist, Upton Sinclair, has been living at the Hotel Etwell until Saturday, when she left presumably for Gulfport, Miss. Prior to the hearing on the suit on June 22, Mrs. Sinclair was living at the home of Mrs. Raoul's relatives, Rogers, near here, having been invited there, it is said, by Mrs. Raoul at the request of her husband.

Raoul was arrested on an exeat and lodged in jail here, having failed to make a $1000 bond for his return to the city.

RAOUL-MATE OF THE ARTIST?

"SINCE RAUL" is described in the petition for divorce as "the woman who was generally known by the name of the well-known artist, Upton Sinclair, these parties living together without the ceremony of marriage having been performed, until the woman was deserted by the said Sinclair."

SLEUTHS OF UNCLE SAM KEEP EYE ON MEXICANS

Arrest of Huerta and Others
Followed by Vigilant Guard of Neutrality

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, June 29.—Agents of the United States government were today busily engaged all over the country watching carefully the movements of prominent Mexicans who have been active in Mexican politics and also those suspected of such activity to see that there are no violations of American neutrality.

The arrest of Generals Victoriano Huerta and Pascual Orozco at El Paso and the strict surveillance over General Felix Diaz, Monrroy, Blanquet and Felipe Angeles, now living in the United States, and others, is a part of the general policy of the American government to try to prevent the setting foot of any new military movement in Mexico. Officials here feel that the revolutionary situation in Mexico ought not further to be complicated by the introduction of new elements.

In line with its policy to prevent, if possible, further revolutionary movements in the southern republic, or at least the setting on foot of any such expeditions on American soil, the government purposes to prosecute vigorously violations of neutrality regarding the prominence of the individuals or their affiliations.

Possibility that there may be identified with the so-called Huerta conspiracy intensified interest here today in the investigation by agents of the department of justice into the situation. It is even intimated that citizens of one of the European belligerents are involved. It was said also that the department of justice was in possession of some evidence which seemed to connect General Angeles, Villal's right-hand man, with the plot. Angeles, it was said, was to call at the state department today to deny that he was in any way involved.

General Angeles arrived here today and denied in person to the state department that he was connected in any way with the Huerta coup.

He also conferred with Enrique C. Lorente, head of the Villa agency. "General Angeles will make a statement," said Mr. Lorente after their conference, "in which he will deny absolutely that he is implicated in any conspiracy with Victoriano Huerta to launch a new revolution in Mexico. He will also explain his relations with General Villa and deny any word about his mission to Washington, which is a military mission."

DENNIS IS SUCCESSOR OF SMITH IN COUNCIL

Atlanta Attorney Is Elected by Council to Fill Ninth Ward
Vacancy

John T. Dennis, a well-known young Atlanta attorney and member of the firm of Hewlett, Dennis & Whitman, Monday afternoon was elected by council to succeed Councilman Charles Whitfield Smith, of the Ninth ward, who has resigned to accept the judgeship of the Stone Mountain circuit, to which he was appointed by Governor Slaton.

Vacancies in council are filled by council pending the next councilman election, which is held every fall. Councilman Smith's term runs until January 1, 1916. Mr. Dennis will serve in his place until that date and will be eligible to run for the full term in the election next fall.

It is understood Mr. Dennis goes in council as a supporter of Captain Cody in the latter's race for chief of the fire department, which election is to be held by council the first Monday in July. In addition to Mr. Dennis' election, council Monday afternoon elected the following board members: Charles A. Bowen to park board from Fourth ward to succeed L. C. Green, resigned; Sam P. Cronheim, re-elected to cemetery commission.

THIRD NATIONAL PAYS 8 PER CENT DIVIDEND

Increase From 6 Per Cent Declared by Bank Directors
at Meeting Tuesday

The stockholders of the Third National bank are rejoicing over an 8 per cent dividend declared at a meeting of the directors today in place of the 6 per cent the institution has heretofore paid on its $1,000,000 capital stock.

The action of the directors in increasing the dividend means annual payment to the stockholders of $80,000 where they have heretofore received $60,000 a year. The dividends, as in the case of practically all national banks, are paid semi-annually, so $40,000 will be paid July 1 and a similar amount the coming January.

The action of the Third National in increasing its dividend at this time is particularly significant of current financial conditions. The directors of the institution were especially gratified over the splendid showing made, and took occasion warmly to compliment President Frank Hawkins and his able corps of officers upon the excellent manner in which they have handled its affairs.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

Swollen Feet, Depressed, Nervous.

Savannah, Ga.—Your "Favorite Prescription" has proven a boon to me for woman's troubles. I would swell up every time I was sick, even down to my ankles, and I was tired, exhausted, without any appetite, and often had to give up my work entirely.

Was depressed in spirits and very nervous, suffering from loss of sleep. The medicines fully regulated me and I had no return to my ill health. I am the mother of nine children and Doctor Pierce's medicine helped me through my delicate state.—Mrs. S. KERRLEY, 75 E. Anderson St., Savannah, Ga.

Health always brings wealth of beauty. A healthy state of the system comes with Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It's a medicine prepared for woman's ailments—it cures those derangements and imbalances which make a woman's life miserable.

It is prepared from nature's roots and herbs and does not contain a particle of alcohol or any narcotic. It's not a secret prescription, but its ingredients are printed on the wrapper.

Women are earnestly advised to take it for irregular or painful periods, backache, headache, displacement, catarrhal condition, hot flashes, salivary complexion and nervousness.

A GREAT OFFER

If you will cut this out and send 3¢ to Dr. Pierce, 255 Central Bldg., Buffalo, N. Y., you will receive a 1,000-page book, bound in handsome cloth, fully illustrated, all charges prepaid.

UGH! CALOMEL MAKES

YOU DEATHLY SICK

Stop using dangerous drug before it salivates you! It's horrible!

You're bilious, sluggish, constipated and believe you need vile, dangerous calomel to start your liver and clean your bowels.

Here's my guarantee! Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic and take a spoonful tonight. If it doesn't start your liver and straighten you right up better than calomel and without cramping or making you sick I want you to go back to the store and get your money.

Take calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak and sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of harmless, vegetable Dodson's Liver Tonic tonight and wake up feeling great. It's perfectly harmless, so give it to your children any time. It can't salivate, so let them eat anything afterwards.—(Adv.)

STOP THAT RHEUMATISM

Dissolve the Uric Acid That Is Deposited in the Joints.

Overtaxed kidneys refuse to throw off the surplus uric acid, and return it to the blood. It is deposited in the joints, which become sore, enlarged and swollen. Uric acid, the kidneys grow weaker and Bright's disease or diabetes results. Dissolve these uric acid crystals, eliminate them from the system and get rid of that rheumatism now with Jacobs' Liver Tonic. Take it morning before breakfast. Don't make the mistake of depending on an occasional dose of dangerous calomel. Powerful diuretic like calomel not only weakens the system, but they leave the uric acid in it. Jacobs' Liver Salt not only removes it, but acts gently without griping pain. If you want to feel fine, try it. 25c at Jacobs' and druggists generally.—(Adv.)

TANGO

CORN

STOP that corn pain at once by touching it with Tango tonight. Soreness is gone with the first touch; two or three more nightly touches, according to tenderness, and it is out by the roots—gone before you know it.

Don't injure your feet and perhaps get blood poison by cutting or peeling your corns.

Tango is guaranteed to end your corn troubles. Try it today.

News And Comment
In General AssemblyHOUSE AND SENATE
OF FOUR HUNDRED

Four bills introduced by the Georgia Federation of Labor will be introduced in the legislature during the present session and representatives of the organization will stay at the capitol to press the bills to passage.

The bills are as follows: First, the anti-docking bill; second, the anti-docking bill; third, the factory inspection bill; fourth, the public printer bill.

The first prohibits docking of employees for infractions of rules, the Federation claiming that rules for employees in certain industries are impossible to comply with, and that fines for bad work punish employees not to blame for the bad work.

The second requires that all persons employed in manual labor and clerical and mechanical work be paid at least twice a month. The Federation is very hopeful of passing this bill.

The third bill is intended to make effective the child labor law enacted in 1914. It provides for two inspectors, one to be a woman, who shall work under the department of commerce and labor, inspecting all industries where child labor is prohibited. The Federation claims the child labor law is a nullity because of a lack of state inspection.

The fourth bill creates the office of public printer, who shall be appointed by the governor and who shall be a resident of the state. He shall receive and award contracts for all state printing and require fulfillment of specifications.

Louis P. Marquardt, of Atlanta, president of the Federation, and Ross C. Chandler, of Augusta, chairman of the Federation's legislative committee, will represent the Federation in pressing the bills.

MAY REMEDY BOMB'S CHARTER TO PERMIT SALE OF NEAR-BEER.

A bill will be introduced at the present session of the legislature to remove charter restrictions on the sale of near-beer in Rome.

Under the present charter near-beer saloons are required to pay $1,000 license, secure the consent of adjoining property owners and tenants on each side, and are allowed to sell the liquid only in the rear of the building. The percentage of alcohol must be stamped in the glass. Under these regulations near-beer saloons have operated in Rome in several years.

Representative John W. Hale, of Floyd, who was elected on an anti-prohibition platform, will introduce an amendment to the city charter, leaving the question of near-beer saloons entirely in the hands of the city commissioners.

TAKES OATH OF OFFICE
HIS MOTHER'S PRESENCE.

The first official act of Governor Nat E. Harris, after his inauguration Saturday, was to take the oath of office to Clifford Walker, the new attorney general, and when Mr. Walker took the oath he took with him his mother, who stood by his side.

This tender thought of his mother by Attorney-General Walker, who took his oath of office with his hand on his mother's Bible, did not detract from the solemnity of the occasion.

LABOR AND FARMERS
PLAN TO JOIN FORCES

The legislative committee of the Georgia Federation of Labor will hold a meeting this week with a similar committee from the Georgia Farmers' union to agree on a program of helping each other in pressing legislation which both want passed.

The labor forces have a program of four bills which they are pressing at this session, while the farmers' organization is particularly interested in one bill—a constitutional amendment providing for the initiative, referendum and recall.

The latter principle of government is one that labor stands for here and in all other states, and the federation will join with the Farmers' union in pressing the bill to passage.

ADDRESSES THE SPEAKER
BY THE NAME OF "BILL."

When the speaker came over to the house on Saturday for the inauguration of Governor Nat E. Harris they had difficulty getting through the door because of the crowd of spectators who had packed around.

Representative H. J. Fulbright, of Burke county, who went into the lobby to get a drink of water, found that the senators were waiting to get in, and hastened back into the house to inform the speaker.

"On Bill," he said, addressing Speaker William H. Burwell. "The senators are waiting and can't get in for the crowd. The doorkeeper needs help."

Speaker Burwell rapped with his gavel and gave orders for the sergeant-at-arms and others to proceed to the assembly of the house.

"What do you mean addressing the speaker that way with all these visitors here?" demanded a friend of Representative Fulbright, catching hold of his coat tail.

The gentleman from Burke turned red in the face, walked over to the middle aisle, addressed the speaker by his name, and said: "Mr. Speaker, I wish to ask your pardon for calling you Bill."

TAKES ANTI-BURGOLARY BILL
COMES IN FOR MUCH PRAISE.

Friends of Senator W. J. Eaker, of the Twenty-seventh, the congratulating him on the anti-burglary bill he introduced in the senate last week, making burglary in an occupied dwelling house at night punishable by death.

Such a law as this is in force in Alabama and many other states, and several Georgia judges, including Judge Ben H. Hill, of the superior court of Atlanta, and Judge Walter G. Charlton, of the superior court of Savannah, have urged such a measure for Georgia for several years past.

Such a law, think these judges and others, will go a long way toward preventing burglaries.

get back into the house Friday, when crowds of nightsters were packed like sardines outside of the doors, waiting to witness the inauguration ceremony. Mr. McClatchey was due to read the resolution calling for a joint session of the house and senate, and, of course, had to get into the house before he could read the resolution there. But he rescheduled the entrance twenty minutes ahead of time at the earnest request of a newspaper man whom he called doorkeepers, with strict orders to "keep everybody out" would not admit.

"That'll never do," said McClatchey. "Come on, we'll get in."

And set in "we" did—but not until two doorkeepers almost mashed McClatchey and the reporter between the double doors in an effort to keep them out.

McClatchey didn't seem to mind a bit this new way of entering the house, for a change.

"You ought to feel honored because you got in so soon," his friends told him. "Those same doorkeepers kept Governor Slaton and Governor Harris waiting over six minutes at the head of the inaugural procession before they'd open the doors for them. You got in quicker than the governors did."

Which was a fact.

REPRESENTATIVE BLACKBURN
SITS IN THE FAVORABLE SEAT.

The friends of Representative R. B. Blackburn, of Fulton county, are rallying him good naturedly for establishing himself in the seat of honor by Speaker Burwell for the vice-chairman of the rules committee.

It is customary for the house, before drawing for seats, to let the speaker designate this seat, because the vice-chairman of the rules committee is recognized probably more times than any other member of the house. During the session of 1913-14 Representative Blackburn, vice-chairman of the rules committee, occupied the designated seat, which is the first on the right of the right hand aisle.

What are you sitting there for? demanded Mr. Blackburn's friends. "Do you take it for granted you will again be named vice-chairman of the rules committee?" The speaker has not yet appointed the standing committee.

To which Mr. Blackburn replied with perfect equanimity: "No, I haven't been made vice-chairman of the rules committee, and may not be, but the general rule is that a man holds over until his successor has been elected and qualified. My successor has not been appointed; therefore, he has not been qualified. Hence I hold this seat in the meantime."

PATHOLOGIST WITNESS IN BATH TUB MURDER CASE

Expert Gives Testimony Tending to Contradict Husband of Dead Woman.

(By Associated Press.)
LONDON, June 29.—At today's session of the trial for murder of George Joseph Smith, husband of three wives who died in their baths, Dr. Spilsbury, a noted pathologist, gave expert testimony of the effects of a sudden fit or fainting spell on a person in a bath.

Regarding Alice Burnham, one of Smith's brides, drowned in her bath tub at Blackpool, Dr. Spilsbury declared it would have been impossible for a person of her size to have been in such a condition, submerged in either a sitting or a lying position, in the bath tub produced in court.

Referring to the prisoner's evidence that he had found the woman lying on her left side in the tub, the physician remarked: "If this is true, it would have been impossible for her arm to have been bruised as it was found to be."

TO DAY'S EVENING STORY

Miss Abigail's Money
(Copyright, 1915, by W. W. Warner.)

"A FORTUNE divided loses prestige," Miss Abigail always had said, yet her two granddaughters had never believed for an instant that the old lady would do other than divide the Westcott millions equally between them.

Belle Rhodes and Reeva Nell, granddaughters of her two younger sisters, were Miss Abigail's only living relatives. Both having been left orphans at an early age, she had reared them, and the old Westcott mansion had always been a home to both. There it was they had spent their early childhood and their vacations during the years they had been at school, and both girls had been married in the historic old reception hall—Belle to a wealthy clubman and Reeva to a young lawyer, whom she insisted had plenty of brains, though as yet little money. Miss Abigail frankly accredited him with neither. But this, it should be told in justice to the young man, reflected nothing against him, for Miss Abigail considered men as somewhat superfluous beings at best.

Miss Abigail never displayed the slightest partiality toward either of her granddaughters. Therefore the news that she imparted to them on the occasion of her eightieth birthday anniversary came as a complete and unpleasant surprise. Miss Abigail decreed that the Westcott millions should go to only one of them; and her terms made it merely a gamble as to which should win, and which lose, everything.

She had summoned the two into her presence, and had presented to each one of her sets of very old and precious family china, stating that the first to break a dish lost all claim of inheriting the fortune. The cousins merely gazed in wordless amazement.

"A fortune divided loses prestige," said Miss Abigail, "and therefore the Westcott fortune shall not be divided. This is as good a way as any to choose between you. Of course, you're to use the dishes every day," she went on, "and a crack is just the same as a real break. I shall expect you to be Westcott enough to report any breakage at once—but I'll be around every once in a while myself to see how my old dinner sets are getting on," she added grimly. "I'm pretty sure yet, if I am 80 today."

"But—Aunt Abigail!" gasped Belle, finding her voice at last, "you surely don't mean that you want us to use your valuable dishes every day, exposing them to the carelessness of servants and guests—your precious old dinner sets?"

Miss Abigail smiled dryly. "Don't let that worry you since it doesn't worry me. I'm getting old and I've seen enough to know I can't take my things with me when I die. Nobody's going to care for my old valuables the way I always have and since they'll be broken anyhow it might as well be now as later. If you're afraid your servants will break the dishes why don't you look after them yourself? It seems to me you ought to be willing, considering what hangs in the balance. And if your guests are in the habit of smashing other folk's belongings I should advise you to choose friends of a less careless sort."

Belle, whose face had grown positively haggard, subsided, casting, however, a venomous glance at Reeva, who had spoken not a word.

Miss Abigail, watching the two from behind her big, oval spectacles, could scarcely repress a chuckle. They were so different, these cousins who had been brought up like twins. Here was Belle, who had married a wealthy man, and had everything money could buy, torturing herself with the thought that she might lose the Westcott fortune, and having Reeva because she stood an equal chance of winning it, while Reeva, who had married a poor man, and to whom the winning or losing of her aunt's fortune would mean so much more than it possibly could to Belle, appeared as calm and untroubled as though the stake were so many pins instead of millions. Yet Miss Abigail knew that that was far from being as indifferent as she appeared. "She's a thoroughbred," mused the old lady, a real Westcott." She found herself hoping that Belle would break the first dish.

"Heartless old tyrant!" muttered Belle as the cousins, afraid to trust the task to other hands, were packing the dinner sets to take home.

Reeva shrugged. "After all, the money is here. Besides, you have less cause for complaint than I. You have no children."

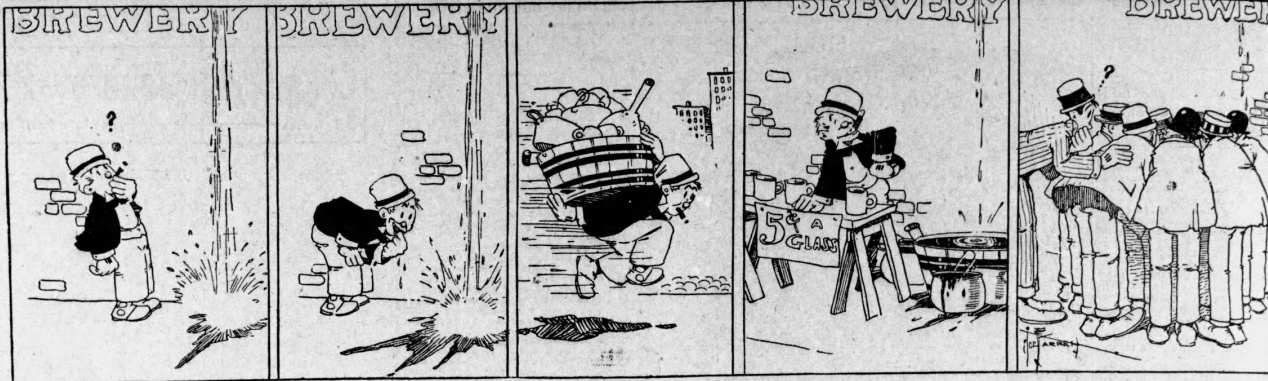

Belle stared at her in amazement. "Do you mean you are going to let little Jack use these dishes?" she demanded. "Certainly. I intend to play the game according to the rules. She specified that we are to use no other dishes until the first one is broken and the contest is over."

Belle heaved a sigh of relief. "That's so," she said, and she felt much better as she thought of three-year-old Jack eating his porridge from Miss Abigail's delicate ware. She selfishly reflected that the whole lot of Westcott fortunes would bring her a standing that half of it could never have brought. She began to see what Miss Abigail had meant when she said that a fortune divided loses prestige.

The weeks that followed were miserable ones for both cousins. Belle, who had never done any housework, now found herself chained, as she put it, to the dishpan. She dismissed her butler, because she was afraid to trust him with the serving, and was obliged to cut short her social activities because she dared not entertain guests. She circulated the report among her friends that she was in retirement, owing to an attack of nervous prostration. Nor was this report far from true, for at the end of the week the very thought of the dinner sets was enough to throw her into a fit of hysterics.

Nor was life any easier for Reeva. In spite of her feeling that the odds were with her childless cousin, she was determined not to accept defeat without having made every effort. She found herself staring her heart in her mouth, whenever her husband raised a cup to his lips, and when little Jack ate she sat beside him, tense and cold as she sat beside him, waiting to catch any dish he might let fall. Needless to say, appetite was not at all the result. Her household became a scene of trembling whenever she touched the precious dishes, and a succession of nerve-racking horrors and her nights were filled with troubled dreams.

Her husband, watching her, became worried. "Dear," he said, one day, "do you think the money is worth all this misery? We've been very happy with the money. I'm going to the fight for the right for the child, his eyes big with fright, ran away sobbing and hid. And then Reeva saw things in their true light. She recalled other times and threw it to the floor, where it crashed into a hundred atoms. "Good-bye, Westcott fortune!" she said, "from the first time in weeks she felt free and happy."

A moment later Miss Abigail appeared in the doorway. "I was just going to see you," Reeva informed her gaily. "I broke one of your cups just now on purpose." And she explained who Miss Abigail took off her spectacles to wipe the mist in her eyes. "I'm proud of you," she said. "You're a real Westcott!"

A little later she disclosed the object of her visit. "I didn't come to spy on you, Reeva," she said. "I knew you'd let me know if you broke anything. I came to tell you that Belle last night yesterday; I went there last night and found it. So you won the Westcott fortune after all, my dear!"

Reeva looked at her in surprise. "I didn't know you were so close to Belle," she said. "I was just going to see you, Reeva," she said. "I knew you'd let me know if you broke anything. CANADIAN PACIFIC DROPS TO LOWEST SINCE 1908

(By Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, June 29.—Canadian Pacific was the feature of today's stock market, receding to 142 1/4, an over-price since 1908, or at any time since its return of 10 per cent dividend. Selling of Canadian Pacific has been more or less persistent since the outbreak of the war, the stock having been a prime favorite in the Berlin market. Doubts regarding the maintenance of the present rate of dividend has been one of the chief factors in the stock's weakness. Poor statements of the road for months past have been an equally depressing influence. The statement for May shows a net loss of $520,000 and the decrease for the eleven months of the fiscal year now exceeds $800,000.

TO WOMEN WHO OVERDO
Thousands of American women in our homes are daily sacrificing their lives to duty. In order to keep the home neat and attractive, the children well dressed and tidy, women overdo. Soon a weakness or displacement is brought on and they suffer in silence, drifting along from bad to worse. For forty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved a boon and a blessing to women in this condition, by restoring their systems to a normal healthy condition. Why don't you try it?
